

BLUE MISTFLOWER

Conoclinium coelestinum

This blue-flowering, herbaceous perennial comes with a friendly warning flag: tends to spread and may become a pest if not given room to spread naturally. Prefer moist soil conditions and can take full sun and partial shade. Blooms late summer thru fall and dies to the ground with first frost.

